Renaissance Ministry

SOUTHERN REGIONAL INSTITUTE

SARUM
COLLEGE
learning to nourish the human spirit

Renaissance Ministry Programme

This programme is sponsored by the seven southern Anglican dioceses which they are opening to wider participation.

This programme is for you if you have been in stipendiary parochial ministry for at least 12 to 15 years, are probably in your 50s and are beginning to think about how you want to shape your ministry for the next phase.

With retirement for many now looking as if it may be 70 what does it mean to be in parochial ministry for the long haul?

We shall provide an opportunity for you to:

- Reflect about your ministry since your ordination, so that you can become more aware of those aspects of ministry that renew you and those that drain you.
- Reflect about your original vocation to ordained ministry: does it continue to sustain you or does it need re-appraising in the light of experience?
- Think about new skills you might like to develop for the next phase of your ministry
- Think about your lifestyle as a minister and plan for its future sustainability.

These residential sessions will provide an opportunity to think and pray together about vocation and ministry, to share in the worship of the cathedral and to make plans for further learning.

Between the residential sessions is a phase of busy parochial ministry including Christmas in which to monitor reflections and learning from the first residential and prepare for the second.

There may be a chance to meet in small action learning groups between the sessions.

Programme Outline

The programme will include two residential sessions at Sarum College. You will be expected to attend both parts.

Session 1

From lunchtime on Tuesday the 9th to lunchtime on Thursday, 11th November 2010.

Session 2

From lunchtime on Wednesday 16th to Friday 18th February 2011.

Between the residential sessions is a phase of busy parochial ministry including Christmas in which to monitor reflections and learning from the first residential and prepare for the second.

There may be a chance to meet in small action learning groups between the sessions.
